

Packaging data for your EPR report, built component by component.

We prepare the packaging data behind state EPR reporting. For one product line, we turn your specs and shipment totals into a workbook you can check line by line.

THE PROBLEM

State packaging EPR reports ask for pounds of packaging by material for what you ship into the state. That means a material and a weight for every component: each pouch, jar, lid, label, liner, carton and mailer.

The slow part is usually weights. Most brands don't have them for every lid and label, and suppliers can take weeks to reply.

THE PILOT

$750 fixed price

- One product line, up to 15 SKUs
- Delivered within 3 business days after we confirm your inputs are enough for that scope
- No ongoing commitment

WHAT WE DON'T DO

- No legal advice
- No decisions on whether your brand is covered or exempt
- No filing or submitting reports

Quiet Yield is not a producer responsibility organization (PRO), a regulator or a law firm. We prepare data; you review it and make your own decisions.

Your data: we take packaging specs and shipment totals by SKU and state only, never customer names, addresses or order-level data. See our Data Handling sheet for the details.

WHAT WE DELIVER

A component-level workbook for one product line:

- Every packaging component per SKU, with its material and weight
- The source and confidence of every number: spec sheet, supplier document, your own weigh-in, or a documented estimate
- A list of what's missing, with draft supplier requests ready to send
- The assumptions we made, listed for you to approve

HOW IT WORKS

1. You send the inputs on our one-page checklist: SKU list, spec sheets or invoices, photos, and units sold by state.
2. Within one business day we confirm the inputs are enough, or send a short list of what's missing.
3. Within 3 business days of that confirmation, you get the workbook and a one-page summary, plus an offer of a short walkthrough.

OUR LABELING RULE

Anything we can't confirm is labeled an estimate or missing, never presented as confirmed. Each number shows where it came from, so you can check it.
